Daniel LeClair

CEOGLOBAL BUSINESS SCHOOL NETWORK

As CEO of the Global Business School Network, Dan is leading efforts to improve access to quality, locally relevant management and entrepreneurship education for the developing world. He also advises several higher education startups and business schools.

Prior to GBSN, Dan helped transform AACSB from a US accrediting body to a global thought leader and internationally-respected quality assurance agency. His 19 years at AACSB includes nearly three years as Chief Strategy and Innovation Officer, seven years as Chief Operating Officer, and five years as Chief Knowledge Officer. Dan played the lead role in creating a think-tank joint venture with the European Foundation for Management Development and was recognized for pioneering efforts in the formation of the UN's Principles for Responsible Management Education (PRME). He also is a founding member of the Responsible Research in Business and Management (RRBM) initiative.

Dan has authored some 80 research reports and articles, and delivered more than 175 presentations in 35+ countries. Before AACSB, Dan was a tenured associate professor and associate dean at The University of Tampa. He earned a PhD from the University of Florida writing on game theory.
