

NATIONAL FLAG/ COMPANY'S FLAG

Tomazoni, Gilberto

Global President
JBS Foods

Mr. Tomazoni holds a BSc in Mechanical Engineering from the Universidade Federal de Santa Catarina and MBA in Management Development at Fundação de Ensino e desenvolvimento. Gilberto is Brazilian, married, two sons, and was born on August 28, 1958. He is also the Global President of Poultry Business of JBS and former CEO of Sadia from 2004 to 2009 and Vice President of Bunge Brasil from 2009 to 2013. His non-executive positions are Chairman of the Board at Pilgrim's Pride S/A, Board Member of JBS Foods S/A, Vigor Alimentos S/A, BBFC Corporations and Excelsior Alimentos S/A.

Largest Brazilian multinational in the food sector JBS is the world leader in beef, lamb and poultry production, and leading company in pork production. With more than 185,000 employees worldwide, the company has 340 production units and operates in the areas of food production, leather, biodiesel, collagen, metal packaging and cleaning products. JBS, the world's largest exporter of animal protein, has access to every consumer market in the world and has customers in more than 150 countries.

JBS Foods produce and sell high value-added processed products, such as poultry and pork products and their derivatives under brands recognized by the Brazilian and international markets. The products are distributed in every region of Brazil and in more than 100 countries on five continents.

