

NATIONAL FLAG/ COMPANY'S FLAG

Saperstein, Richard

Managing Director/Principal
HighTower's Treasury Partners

Richard Saperstein heads a team of 19 professionals who deliver a broad array of cash and wealth management services to corporate and private clients.

Mr. Saperstein has more than 30 years experience on Wall Street. He is widely acknowledged for his investment expertise, and has ranked in the top tier on Barron's annual survey of "America's Top 100 Financial Advisors" every year since the survey was introduced in 2004.

In 2015, he ranked sixth on that survey, and fourth in New York State on Barron's listing of the country's "Top 1200 Financial Advisors."

Mr. Saperstein frequently shares his perspectives on the markets in such media as The Economist, The Wall Street Journal, Barron's, Forbes, Smart Money, AdvisorOne, Kiplinger's, Financial Week, TheStreet.com, CNBC News, Money Media, Bloomberg, Fox Business News, and The New York Times.

He also has been invited to speak at conferences sponsored by various industry groups, including the Association for Financial Professionals, Tiburon Strategic Advisors, the Investment Management Network, and Index Universe.

Mr. Saperstein began his career in 1982 and joined Oppenheimer & Co. in 1987. In 2003, he and his team moved to Bear Stearns where they established and ran the Corporate Cash Management Group. After J. P. Morgan acquired Bear Stearns in 2009, Mr. Saperstein and his team became affiliated with HighTower Advisors and launched Treasury Partners as an independent Registered Investment Advisor.

Mr. Saperstein earned his MBA at New York University's Stern School of Business, where he currently lectures and is an advisor to the Michael Price Student Investment Fund. He is conversant in Italian, and is an avid salt and freshwater fly fisherman.
